As HM The Queen's personal representative in the County I am writing to thank you very much indeed for your considerable help during the current pandemic.

We are living through unprecedented times which for many has incurred great hardship. Keeping the County operating for the benefit of its citizens is clearly challenging, but through good leadership and tremendous goodwill we are pulling through. The actions of individuals, whether independently or collectively, have resulted in some truly inspiring examples of personal sacrifice and commitment.

Your help in providing logistics to deliver beds to locations for use by the NHS has been invaluable and very much appreciated and I want you know how grateful we are.

I feel that the innovation, collaboration, selflessness displayed by you and your company; going well beyond the line of duty in keeping things moving and getting the job done is going to be one of the real positives to come out of this crisis and your company is a fine example of this.

I wish you the very best and hope that you and those who work for Simarco stay safe.
